Team members information

- Teams should be composed of Masters (or equivalent) level students, including combined BS/MS programs.
- In exceptional circumstances teams may have up to two geoscience PhD students. No student should have more than three years of postgraduate geoscience (or related field) experience.
- No more than two undergraduate students are allowed to participate in each team unless circumstances dictate that an exception to this rule is warranted (e.g. Regions that have few or no Masters Level or equivalent programs).*

Team Member Names and Advisor Acknowledgement:
Submit names for up to five (5) students that will comprise your team. ALL TEAM MEMBERS AND THE FACULTY ADVISOR MUST CHECK OFF THE REQUIRED ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS SENT TO THEM VIA EMAIL. Incomplete applications will be returned to the team and could result in non-participation. Failure to submit waiver forms will result in the delay of dataset release. See Section 2 of the Rules and Operating Procedures.

If you already have your team participants information, you can add it below by clicking the Add Participant button. If you have not identified your team participants yet, you can complete the rest of this form and then email your team information to iba@aapg.org when you get it.

AAPG IBA Competition 2015 Request for Team Member(s) Exception

Section 3, Paragraph 6 of the IBA Rules and Operational Procedures states: Teams should be composed of Masters (or equivalent) level students; however in exceptional circumstances teams may have up to two PhD students. No student should have more than three years of postgraduate experience. Undergraduate students are not allowed to participate unless circumstances dictate that an exception to this rule is warranted (e.g. Regions that have few or no Masters Level or equivalent programs). If such a situation does occur, the Region or Section Coordinator is to notify the IBA Committee Chair to secure IBA Committee permission for the undergraduate(s) to participate using the Request for Team Member(s) Exception form.

In order to obtain an exception, please complete the following form:

Name of University

Nature of Exception

Reason for which a team compliant with the Rules cannot be assembled

Experience and abilities of the student(s) for which an exception is being sought

- If such a situation does occur, the Region or Section Coordinator is to notify the IBA Committee Chair to secure IBA Committee permission for the undergraduate(s) to participate using the Request for Team Member(s) Exception form.
